“He who works deceit shall not dwell within my house; he who tells lies shall not continue in my presence” (Psalm 101:7)

“Senators Mitch McConnell and John McCain are trying to pull the wool over Americans’ eyes. However, we know The Truth and will expose those wolves in sheep’s clothing.” –Dave

McConnell believes he can wear sheep’s clothing to hide his true wolfish nature.

The reason we call this column “Unshackled” is because long ago we freed ourselves from the lies of the Washington DC Establishment. Never doubt the lengths to which the politically-powerful will go to defend their turf and taxpayer gravy train.

The latest political pretense from our elected leaders was the feeble attempt by the Senate to repeal and replace Obamacare. Don’t even bother looking at the current editions of the House and Senate bills. Ask yourself, or better yet, ask Senator McConnell and Speaker of the House Paul Ryan, this question:

“Why didn’t the GOP try to pass last year’s vetoed health-care bill?

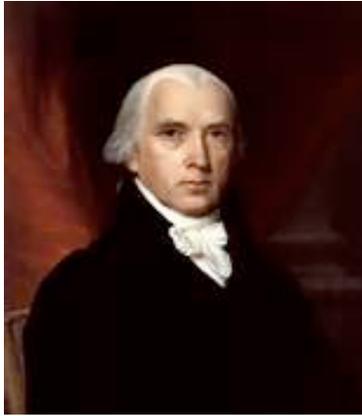

That question is the title of an excellent article from Hot Air. As Taylor Millard points out, last year’s bill “eliminated the individual mandate, ended the Cadillac tax, let people use their HSA to buy over the counter drugs, and killed several other taxes on insurers and medical devices. It also defunded Planned Parenthood.”

I can tell you why the GOP didn’t do that. It is because they never had any intention of that bill passing. During the Obama Administration, Republicans in Congress attempted numerous times to repeal Obamacare, knowing full well any actual bill making it to the Oval Office would be vetoed by Obama.

This knowledge was the GOP Establishment’s top cover to tell its constituents that they were fighting hard to repeal and replace Obamacare, all the while never intending to do so.

But the wool has been removed from our eyes and we can see clearly now.

FROM THE FOUNDERS

Is there any doubt that our current government, with many Obama acolytes still in power, is a soft tyranny? Although President Trump has made great inroads to “draining the swamp,” there is much more to be done. President Trump must remove the Obama Leftist holdovers if the swamp is to be completely drained.

“The accumulation of all powers, legislative, executive, and judiciary, in the same hands, whether of one, a few, or many, and whether hereditary, self-appointed, or elective, may justly be pronounced the very definition of tyranny” James Madison, Federalist #47

Madison was prescient in his warning against “The accumulation of all powers...in the same hands, whether of one, a few, or many...” This is exactly the issue facing America today. There is far too much power vested in too few hands in our federal government.

Whether it be acquiescing to the judicial supremacy of five Supreme Court justices, the parliamentary shenanigans of House and Senate leaders, or the abuse of presidential executive power, WE the People have lost control over our government.

This has brought America to the brink of civil war; not North versus South, but Right versus Left. Either side should stop looking at each other and look towards the DC Beltway to discover the real problems facing our nation. Whether you consider yourself a conservative, liberal, libertarian, or progressive, the abuse of constitutional powers should make all citizens concerned.

The Supreme Court was never to be so powerful; in fact it was to do the least harm. The Presidency was not to use executive orders as a means to bypass Congress. Worst of all the three branches, Congress has become two houses of ethical and moral jellyfishes.

WE the People must throw off the shackles of our current tyranny. Keep reading to find out how.

FROM THE PULPIT

“For one person alone to have the Government of a people in his hands, would be too great a Temptation. It tends to excite and draw forth the Pride of man, to make him unsufferably haughty; it gives him too much liberty to exert his corruptions and it encourages him to become a Tyrant and an oppressor, to dispense with Laws and break the most solemn oaths.” Pastor John Barnard, “The Presence of Great God in the Assembly of Political Rulers” sermon, Boston, 1746.

We’ve quoted Pastor Barnard before when pointing out Barack Obama’s abuse of power. Many of our current leaders are no less guilty of what Pastor Barnard was warning against. Be it Speaker of the House Paul Ryan’s refusal to allow solid conservative legislation to come to the House floor for a vote, or Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell’s antics, too many leaders have become “unsufferably haughty.”

Call me paranoid or a conspiracy nut, but I believe there was much more to Sen. John McCain casting the decisive vote that tanked the Obamacare repeal in the Senate. Sen. Ron Johnson of Wisconsin suggested McCain’s surprise vote may have resulted from the Arizona senator having a brain tumor and staying up late. I think those two reasons were used as top cover. Stay with me on this...

McCain is on his last hoorah. How badly do you think conservatives are going to blast McCain for his vote? Too much media sympathy for even the staunchest conservative to go after McCain with a lot of gusto. McCain knew this and so did McConnell. Just look how Sen. Johnson backpedaled, and he’s no staunch conservative.

Now this is where the most nefarious part comes in and my conspiracy spidey-senses began tingling uncontrollably. Sen. McConnell, after his “defeat,” said, “Our regret is that our efforts were simply not enough this time.” All of you who believe McConnell truly regrets not repealing ObamaCare, raise your hands. A little higher, I can’t see any.

McCain and McConnell go way back and are the quintessential “unsufferably haughty” senators. Although I have no proof, I believe these two conspired to kill even this “skinny bill.” McCain knew he could safely fly top cover for McConnell, all the while never intending to repeal any part of ObamaCare. This is just another addition to the long list of legislature failures of Mitch McConnell. Andrew Prokop at vox.com outlines “Mitch McConnell’s many failures on the health bill.”

McConnell and his DC lackeys have broke their “most solemn oaths” and must be defeated. Turn the page to find out how...

TO THE STREETS

Although it may seem an impossible task, WE the People still have the power to remove the “unsufferably haughty” Republican leadership that has long betrayed conservatives. Adding to the leadership are the squishy Republican congressmen and senators who are nothing more than Democrat-lite, at best. Our great power as voters lies not in the general election, where our choices are limited to the nominees on the ballot. It is vested in the primary process where these entrenched incumbents keep getting re-elected by over 90% even though they have a favorable rating in the low teens.

This is our fault, not theirs. They count on voter apathy or disinterest in the primary process and know that most conservatives will vote for anyone with an “R” behind his or her name. You know, any Republican is better than any Democrat. Not necessarily, especially the RINOs who betray us day in and day out. So here are some actual steps we can take to change this disastrous cycle.

1. Go to my PAC and “Take the Pledge” and put DC back in our corner. Please visit our website where my Policy Director Brian Ward has developed a simple yet effective strategy to give conservatives a strong voice.
2. Visit Conservative Review and find your legislators’ “Liberty Scorecard” so you can find out exactly how conservative your representative and two senators are.
3. Help me get the word out about The Truth Watch. Not only are we writing newsletters, starting up a new PAC, but I also do a podcast at Truth Watch Radio. I need your help because the more subscribers we get to The Truth Watch, the more freedom I will have to help keep you informed of important issues. We need an army of at least 10,000 members to be effective in our fight for liberty. Please invite your friends, relatives, associates, and neighbors to join The Truth Watch today. I shared in my email my special offer, so please encourage others to take advantage of this.
4. Feel free to share this newsletter with prospective members to give them a sense of what we do at The Truth Watch. Show them the archives that they will have access to when they join our group. Knowledge is power and we aim to empower our readers with both biblical and political wisdom.
