“The Lord brings the counsel of the nations to nothing; He makes the plans of the peoples of no effect. The counsel of the Lord stands forever, the plans of His heart to all generations.” (Psalm 33:10-11)

“If our elected officials will not defend us, then they must be replaced. Anything less is a violation of their oath of office.” – Dave

The President of the United States most important job is that of Commander-in-Chief. He is responsible for the security of our borders and our homeland. Included in that responsibility is our embassies. Barack Obama, along with Secretary of State Hillary Clinton, and the State Department have failed miserably at this as is evidenced in the outbreak of violence in the Middle East.

The death of our Ambassador to Libya Chris Stevens could have been prevented had the State Department acted on information they had received.

Let's be clear about what has happened. The United States of America was attacked for no other reason than we are the USA. The Obama Administration can lie all it wants about some obscure and ridiculous video, but the fact of the matter is, America was attacked. So how do we react?

Barack Obama, his bumbling Press Secretary Jay Carney, and his incoherent Secretary of State Hillary Clinton, while weakly acknowledging it is no justification to attack us, nevertheless give credence to the ridiculous notion that the sensibilities of Muslims across the Middle East were so offended by this video, they attacked us.

I have called for the impeachment of Barack Obama and his Attorney General Eric Holder. I have called for their resignations. I restate my call for Barack Obama's resignation and call for his Secretary of State Clinton's resignation.

Of course we know that will never happen. However, this complete failure to protect our embassies and then respond forcefully to these unwarranted attacks must be a large part of the electoral equation. Will America demand from our President that he or she always provide for the common defense?

FROM THE FOUNDERS

Our Founders knew that our security and the means to provide it would always be determined by the threats facing our nation. To use any other barometer for determining defense and foreign policy was completely unacceptable.

*“If one nation maintains constantly a disciplined army, ready for the service of ambition or revenge, it obliges the most pacific nations who may be within the reach of its enterprises to take corresponding precautions.” James Madison, Federalist 41*

In a world filled with evil people, we do not have the luxury of living in the make-believe world of “All I am saying is give peace a chance.” It might make for a nice song by John Lennon but it can never be embraced as national security or foreign policy. We must be ever vigilant to protect our people from all enemies, foreign and domestic.

Whether or not our elected leaders want to admit it, Islam is at war with America and all liberty-loving people. And when we know that either a nation, religion, or peoples are at war with us, have openly declared war against us, then we must understand we are at war with them. That truth can only be rejected at the expense of our safety and our liberty. That is anathema to what our Founding Fathers envisioned at the Constitutional Convention in 1787. Read again the Preamble to our Constitution:

We the People of the United States, in Order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

The Preamble outlines the purpose of our federal government. In light of recent events in the Middle East, among many others, it is clear this administration has failed its constitutional duties.

FROM THE PULPIT

"A strong national defense, a strong intelligence gathering community, a firm and vigilant attention to threats - these are things that are a necessary part of life for a free 21st century nation. All of us wish it could be different, but it isn't. We would be foolish to cast these things aside. Even ancient Israel, shepherded by God Himself, did not disarm, nor did God disarm them, except in one or two exceptional incidents when they needed a clearer picture of His power. But these things - weapons, intelligence, and human resolve - cannot protect us fully. There is something else." "Rebuilding America's National Security" sermon on September 16, 2001 by Reverend Dave Redick, Minister of the Hwy 20 Church of Christ in Sweet Home, Oregon and Editor of The Preacher's Study.

Pacifism is an untenable belief system, at least here on earth. From the time of Abel and Cain humans have warred against each other for any number of reasons. Our nation has tried different variations and hybrids of pacifism, be it isolationism to the peace dividend. Every time our nation has weakened its national defense and intelligence gathering abilities, we have suffered for it.

Whenever a storm is gathering such as a hurricane down here in Florida, we take precautionary measures. We board up windows, remove all the patio and pool furniture and secure it inside, we stock up on water, food, and energy supplies. Why? Because a storm is brewing out in the Gulf of Mexico and we know its destructive power.

Eleven years to the day after the most horrific attacks on American soil, our embassies and consulates were attacked and are still being attacked. However, unlike our response to the terrorist attacks in 2001, the Impostor-in-Chief has yet to punish those who attacked us for simply being Americans and instead blames a movie no one has seen.

Over and over again this man in the Oval Office has violated his oath of office, one that he took in the first place illegally. Read well and heed to your heart King David's words in Psalm 33:

"Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord, the people He has chosen as His own inheritance." (Psalm 33:12)

We long ago kicked God out of America, and because of it we have a usurper in the White House, openly sympathetic to the very people and their religion hell-bent on our destruction.

TO THE STREETS

WE the People must call on our government to defend our sovereign soil, not only in America, but also wherever America is represented. Here are some tangible steps we can take:

1. Contact your US Representative and Senators and demand they cut off all foreign aid to any country that attacks our embassies and consulates.
2. Contact the US State Department, demand that Hillary Clinton resign as Secretary of State for her failure to provide proper security for our diplomats. Also demand that security be tightened to the level of proper self-defense.
3. Contact the White House and demand that the truth about these attacks be acknowledged and that Barack Obama and his administration stop perpetrating the lie that these attacks on Americans were caused by some obscure video.
4. Call your local talk radio station and remind the listeners that the federal government's primary job is not to create jobs, provide healthcare and food stamps, but to protect life, born and unborn.
5. Write a Letter to the Editor explaining that our federal government has taken its eyes off of the constitutional mandate given it to protect life and liberty. Its main role is not to create jobs or redistribute wealth.

Dear Patriots, we as a nation long ago forgot the purpose of our federal government. It is not responsible for our well-being. It is not responsible for our employment. It is not responsible for our healthcare. It is not responsible for regulating what we eat or drink.

The mandate of the federal government is clearly outlined in the Preamble of the United States Constitution, and the sooner we hold our current elected officials, and in the future elect only those who will uphold their duties, the sooner we will see our nation return to its founding principles.

And that needs to begin by once again honoring God in our lives.
