

The Truth

Aletheia Group weekly newsletter

Volume III, Issue 4

“He who works deceit shall not dwell within my house; he who tells lies shall not continue in my presence” (Psalm 101:7)

“Karl Rove is single-handedly working to destroy the conservative movement. He must be stopped.” –Dave

The modern conservative movement has many enemies, but none so vile as those posing as allies.

Karl Rove is the quintessential enemy within the walls, bringing havoc and mayhem to conservatism in ways of which liberals can only dream. He is not only an enemy, but he is also the leader of a quasi-conservative movement doing all it can to destroy constitutionalist conservatives and the tea party movement.

Posing as the Conservative Victory Project, Rove and his buddy Steven J. Law, president of American Crossroads, have begun joining forces with some of the biggest donors in the Republican Party.

Their goal is to repeat the disastrous strategy of 2012 that results in certain defeat by backing milquetoast RINO candidates that depresses the GOP base.

In a brilliant and blistering column, Breitbart News Editor-At-Large Ben Shapiro accurately sums up the issue with Rove and American Crossroads:

But it is American Crossroads and its ilk that have run the GOP into the ground...If Tea Party candidates lose, it's because they weren't good candidates; if GOP establishment candidates lose, it's because they weren't good conservatives. The choice for actual conservatives should be easy.

Shapiro is exactly right. Tea Party candidates only lose if they are bad candidates. GOP establishment candidates who are not conservatives always lose.

This is nothing more than a desperate power grab by the ever-fading Rove. He is damaged goods and no longer trusted by Washington outsiders. And like a wounded wild animal, Rove is now more dangerous than ever. He must be stopped.

FROM THE FOUNDERS

The Founders knew that factions inside and out of political parties would come, but one has to wonder what they would have thought of Karl Rove's overt attempt to thwart the desires of the electorate in favor of his deciding who is electable and who is not.

"The latent causes of faction are thus sown in the nature of man; and we see them everywhere brought into different degrees of activity, according to the different circumstances of civil society. A zeal for different opinions concerning religion, concerning government, and many other points, as well of speculation as of practice; an attachment to different leaders ambitiously contending for pre-eminence and power; or to persons of other descriptions whose fortunes have been interesting to the human passions, have, in turn, divided mankind into parties, inflamed them with mutual animosity, and rendered them much more disposed to vex and oppress each other than to co-operate for their common good. So strong is this propensity of mankind to fall into mutual animosities, that where no substantial occasion presents itself, the most frivolous and fanciful distinctions have been sufficient to kindle their unfriendly passions and excite their most violent conflicts." James Madison, Federalist #10

Karl Rove is clearly attempting to cause a schism within the GOP. There is no way he cannot know that if he is successful in overtaking the primary process, he will disenfranchise the conservative base of the party. That has to be his intent; to either destroy or degrade the tea party movement's effectiveness.

Why would Rove do this?

He is "ambitiously contending for pre-eminence and power." Rove's performance during the last presidential has dulled the luster on his "The Architect" moniker. Additionally, his open opposition to Todd Akin has left him persona non grata with many values and tea party voters. It's all about regaining prestige and power.

And the Bible is very clear on this type of ambition. Turn the page to find out how...

FROM THE PULPIT

“They [the Pharisees] also put reputation above character. They thought that sitting in the right seats and being acknowledged by the right people would make them spiritual. Reputation is what people think we are; character is what God knows we are.” Warren Wiersbe, commenting on Luke 11:43

“Woe to you Pharisees! For you love the best seats in the synagogues and greetings in the marketplaces.” (Luke 11:43)

Jesus had some harsh words for the Pharisees of His day. Wikipedia states, “The Pharisees were at various times a political party, a social movement, and a school of thought among Jews during the Second Temple period beginning under the Hasmonean dynasty (140–37 BCE) in the wake of the Maccabean Revolt.”

It could be said, in fact has been said by my good friends Steve Deace and Gregg Jackson, that the Republican Establishment has become pharisaical in many ways. It is indeed a political party that is more concerned with “sitting in the right seats and being acknowledged by the right people” in hopes of maybe not making them more spiritual, but definitely relevant to the times.

Karl Rove and his cronies are concerned with maintaining their status quo of high-paid consultancies, sweetheart government deals, D.C. cocktail circuit invitations, and FOXNews appearances. Why?

Because they seek earthly honor, believing the platitudes from men equates to character, when it is nothing more than reputation. The Bible says this is bad for two reasons. First, it is fleeting:

“Their inner thought is that their houses will last forever, their dwelling places to all generations; they call their lands after their own names. Nevertheless man, though in honor, does not remain; he is like the beasts that perish.” (Psalm 49:11-12)

Second, seeking earthly honor hinders man from faith:

“How can you believe, who receive honor from one another, and do not seek the honor that comes from the only God?” (John 5:44)

So how do we overcome this? Turn the page for some suggestions...

TO THE STREETS

WE the People have the power to defeat the Karl Roves of this country. While we may not be able to outspend them, we can outwit them. No matter how hard Rove tries to determine who is and who is not electable, the choice in the primary and general election is left to us. He and his cronies only get one vote. So how do we outwit them? We beat them at their own game. Rove is very savvy on winning elections so we need to study him and copy the things he does right and do them better. Here are some ways:

1. Make sure you are registered if you desire to chose our Republican candidates. In most states you must be claim party affiliation to vote in closed primaries. Find out for sure how your primary elections work. Make sure all your likeminded friends, relatives, associates, and neighbors are registered also.
2. Please consider joining an organization in which I am the National Sergeant-at-Arms and Florida National Director. The National Federation of Republican Assemblies (NFRA) calls itself “The Republican Wing of the Republican Party” and you can read all about us at our website.
3. Start attending your county Republican Executive Committee meetings; I need to start doing this myself. It is definitely not the most exciting thing to do in life, but it is only one night out of the month and we must control local politics if we want to eventually shape our state and national party. Time to start is long past due.
4. Keep up with this story. Rove and his cronies are counting on us taking our eye off the ball. We must watch his every move with one eye and keep the other on Obama and his ilk. Yes, it would be preferable to put both eyes on the latter, but we will not overcome Obama until we overcome the enemy from within.

We have to purpose in our hearts to defend our Republic. We know who Obama and the Democrats are; they are who they are and they will do in what they believe. The only surprises from them is their brazenness.

But when we have those within our own party betraying the principles of conservatism and not opposing Obama and his thugs, then we must reform our own party before we can reform the nation. That is our hope and prayer and Aletheia Group L.L.C. I am honored that you are a part of this. Please invite others to join.

This copy is for your personal, noncommercial use.
If you intend to reprint this e-newsletter you must obtain permission prior to publication.
The Truth Newsletter is a for profit publication and is for subscribers only.
Please tell all your family and friends about The Truth Watch and invite them to join us.